Certified Horsemanship Association Job Postings Board Helps Connect CHA Members with Employment Opportunities

(March 2018) – Would you like the opportunity to be a wrangler in California, a barn assistant/activity specialist in Illinois, a riding instructor in Pennsylvania, a horseback riding director or riding assistant in Wisconsin, a riding instructor/camp counselor in New York, a riding instructor in Indiana, a barn manager/program director in Oregon, a horse program director in Arkansas, or an equine program assistant in North Carolina? Those are just a few of the opportunities available through the Certified Horsemanship Association’s Job Posting Board.

Or perhaps you want to hire a qualified CHA certified instructor or staff member. One of CHA’s member benefits is the ability to add job postings online for free on CHA’s Job Opportunities Board at http://cha-ahse.org/store/pages/43/Job_Openings.html. The job posting membership benefit is especially helpful for Business/Program Members that are seeking to hire additional staff.

Anyone seeking a position in the equine industry is encouraged to check out the job postings offered through the Certified Horsemanship Association. However, only CHA Program/Business members can add postings to the board as a part of the member benefits package. CHA also does a monthly e-blast newsletter for its members and CHA Program/Business Members can also run job openings in the e-newsletter for a small fee. CHA Program/Business membership, available to any equine business or association, is $200/year. CHA Accredited Sites receive a discount of $25/year.

For more information on the benefits of membership with the Certified Horsemanship Association, please visit http://cha-ahse.org/store/pages/22/Member_Benefits.html. For questions, please contact CHA’s headquarters in Lexington, KY, at 859-259-3399 or office@cha-ahse.org. If you are a member and would like to submit a job posting, please email office@cha-ahse.org with the subject line “CHA Website – Job Posting Request.”
