Attention Regional Publications – Solid Riding Instructor Articles Available

(April 2006) – The Certified Horsemanship Association (CHA) is offering all AHP publications and electronic media with the opportunity to print any of its past articles on teaching and training. Articles range from common equitation problems and solutions for different disciplines to pet peeves around the barn.

CHA Program Director and known clinician Julie Goodnight is just one of the many outstanding authors of these articles. Use of these articles is complimentary as long as CHA is contacted before the article is printed and that the publication use the reprint permission language of CHA that comes with the agreement.

Some of the articles can be found on the CHA website at www.cha-ahse.org and by going directly to this link: <http://www.cha-ahse.org/theinstructor.htm>. They can also be found by going to the home page and clicking on the magazine button.

Before you reprint an article you must contact CHA for permission and to get the correct wording for the text that must accompany the article. Also, CHA would like a copy of the publication where the article was featured. You can contact CHA Marketing Director, Christy Landwehr, for the full scope of articles available and to reprint an article. Some articles have available photos as well.

The mission of CHA is to promote excellence in safety and education for the benefit of individuals and group riding programs. CHA certifies instructors and trail guides, accredits equestrian facilities and provides support and educational resources. For more information on the Certified Horsemanship Association and to register for the annual conference, please visit www.cha-ahse.org, email office@cha-ahse.org or call toll free 800-399-0138.
