Certified Horsemanship Association Produces Certification Clinics Around the Continent

(September 2013) – Please add these certification clinics to your event calendars and help share the word about where to attend Certified Horsemanship Association (CHA) Clinics around North America. These educational certification clinics are open to riding instructors, vaulting coaches, barn managers and trail guides that want to have a professional certification under their belt and help with insurance discounts and in marketing their equine programs.

Safety, professionalism, herd management, teaching techniques, and group lesson control are all evaluated by two clinic staff during the clinic. Our busiest months for clinics are normally May and June. Here is the link to the clinics that are left in 2012 and more are added all the time.

<http://cha-ahse.org/store/clinics.php> You can sign up to receive our free once a month e-newsletters that always have a list of clinics on the CHA home page at www.CHA-ahse.org and to host a clinic and make some money for your equine facility visit http://cha-ahse.org/store/pages/37/How_to_Host.html
